About the collection : "Ever since my first visit to the planetarium when I was a kid I've been fascinated by the planets and space travel. The vastness of space and all of the incredible things that we still have to discover fills me with the same sense of wonder that I had when I was younger. This fun retro inspired collection captures that magical feeling and is for all of the space lovers out there that dream of one day exploring the universe. A dream that might not be too far away!"
